

Practical Theology

Purpose:

The Practical Theology section of the Christian Scholars Conference exists to encourage research and engaged reflection about the integration of theology and practice. It explores the ways that theology is shaped by personal and social actions and habits, and it seeks to discover new possibilities for enacting theological reflection within diverse contexts of ministry and life. The Practical Theology section invites peer reviewed and generative sessions that deal with such topics as homiletics, worship, ministry education, pastoral care, missions, and spiritual formation.
